

TIMON'S DIARY

Get a sneak peek of what the movie's all about from Timon's diary – it's the real story, and he ain't LION!

DAY 1

Dear Diary,

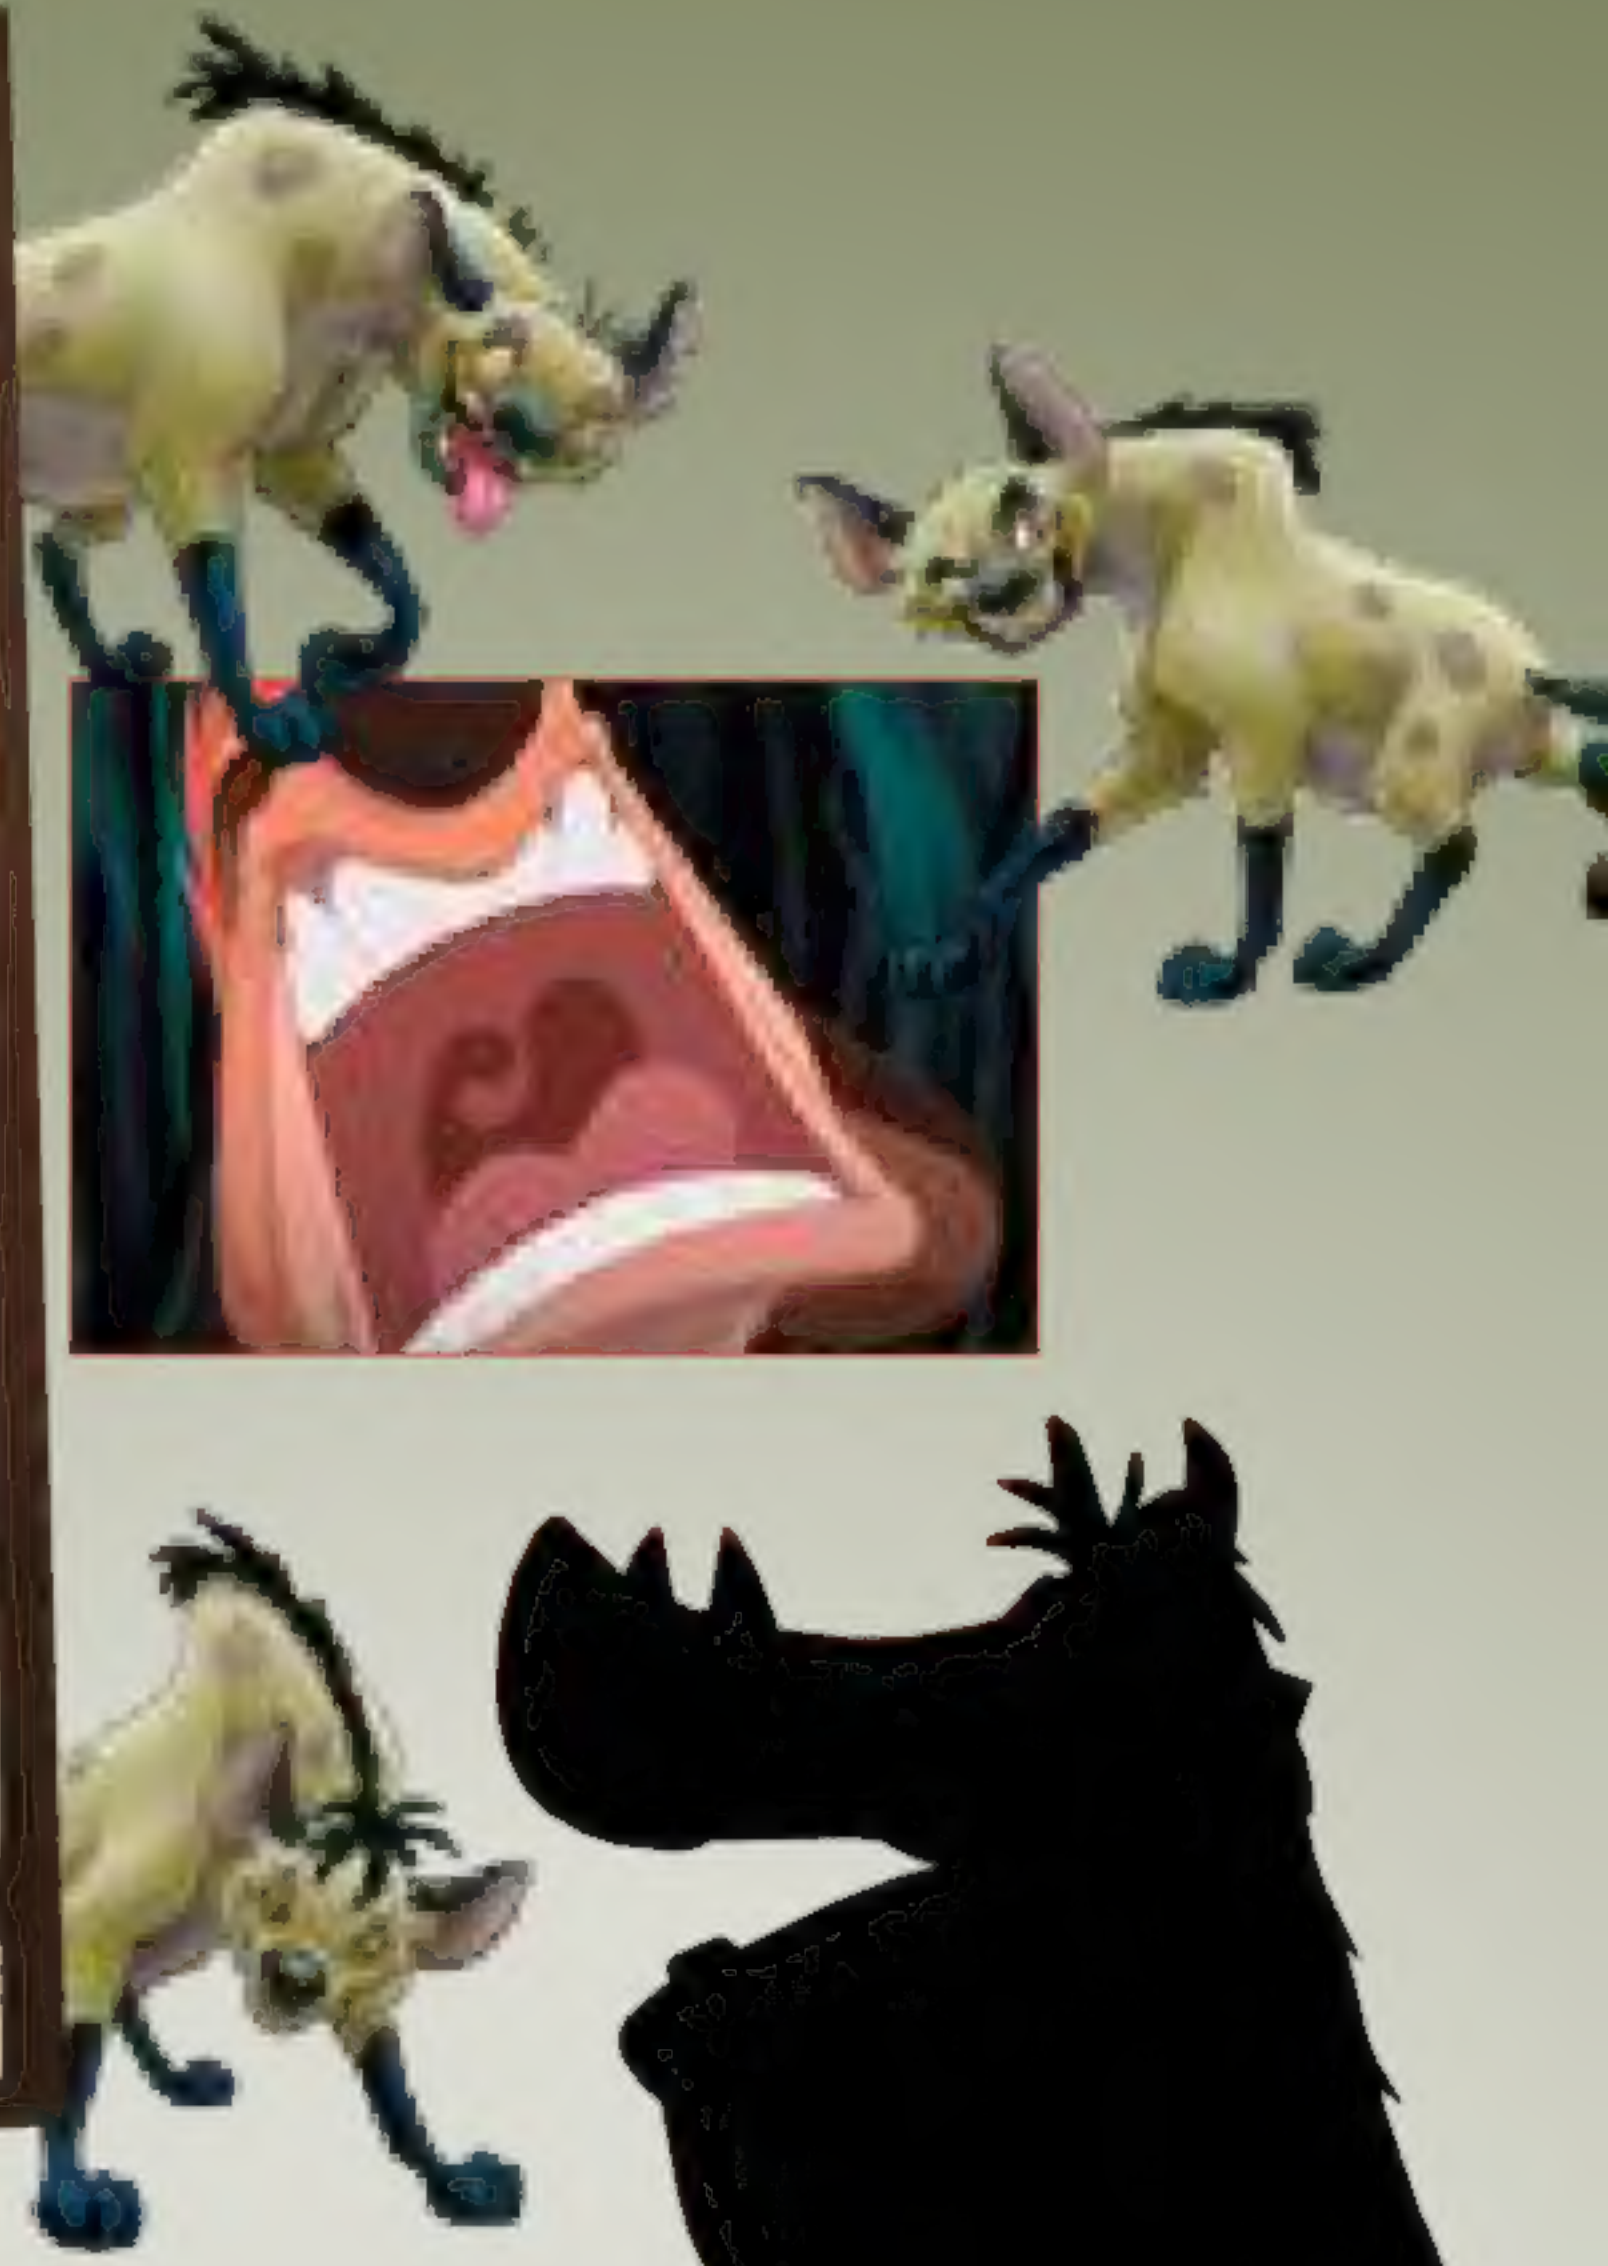

It's me, Timon. You know – that mischievous meerkat with exciting news. Instead of digging tunnels from dusk to dawn to hide the pack from the hyenas, I'm moving up to hyena lookout!

DAY 2

Dear Diary,

I'm in deep doo-doo with the village. Last night when I broke into song on the watch, the hyenas came a-running. It's time I leave to follow my dream and find a place with no worries...I'm just worried I won't find such a place.

Dear Diary,

DAY 3

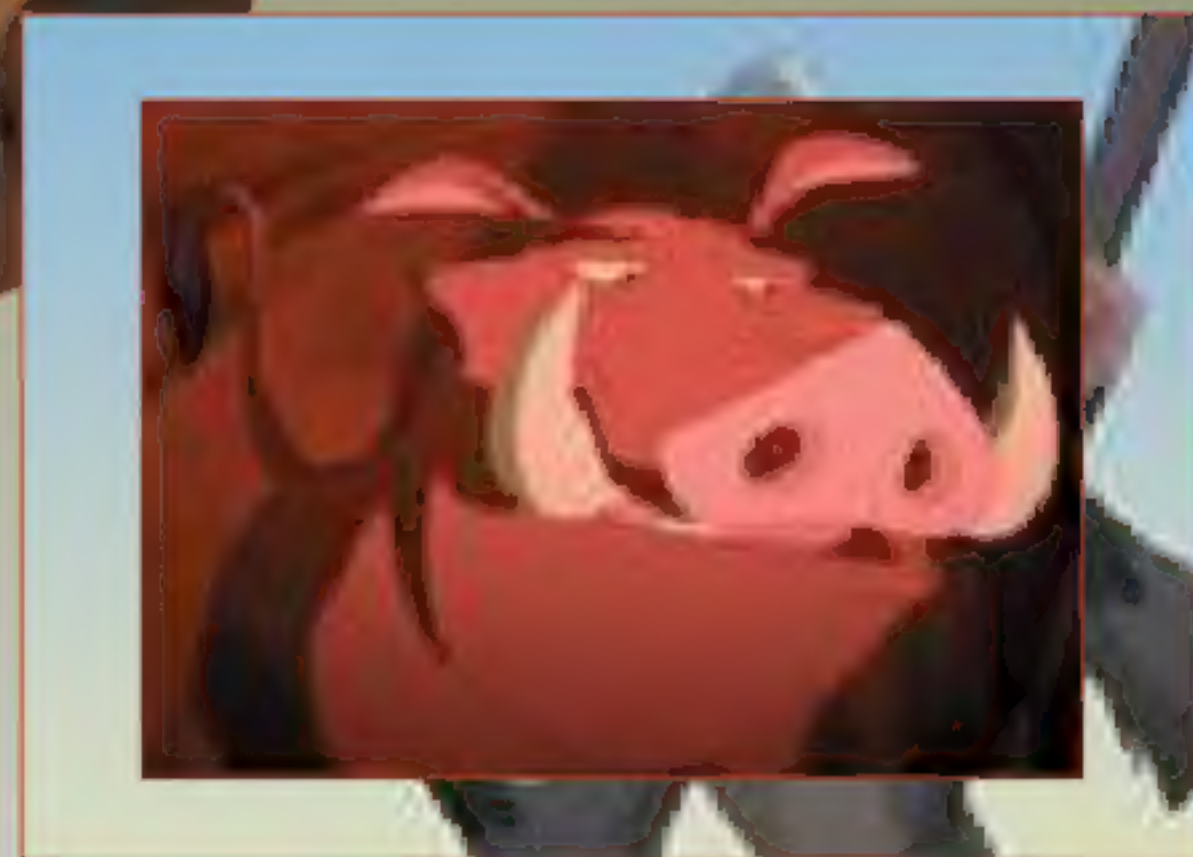

Today I ventured off to where no meerkat has gone before...and I WANTED MY MOMMY! Then I met a wise old monkey, Rafiki, who filled me in on Hakuna Matata, which means no worries! And, it's my new way of life!

DAY 4

Dear Diary,

What a scare I had today! I ran into this warthog named Pumbaa. At first I thought he was going to devour me like an appetizer, but we bonded like peanut butter and jelly. I know we're going to be best buddies.

DAY 5

Dear Diary,

Today was a big day in the Pride Lands. There was celebration for the birth of the king's son. All of a sudden the animals started to bow. I thought it was to honor their king. Then I got a whiff of what brought them to their knees. Guess who was responsible for the ill wind? Pumbaa, of course. So now we have to set out for greener pastures.

DAY 10

Dear Diary,

We found our dream home! Waterfalls. Swimming pools. Best of all, a scrumptious assortment of bugs!! But that's not the big news. We rescued a little lion cub named Simba and now we are his foster parents.

Dear Diary,

DAY 54

I know it's been a while,
but this parenting stuff
takes a lot of time –
potty training, game playing, bug belching and slug slurping. We're like kids again!
Life is bliss.

Dear Diary,

DAY 272

There's a girl in the picture.
This Nala person was going to have us for lunch
– when Simba rescued us.
Wouldn't you know it, they were old pals. You should see all the nuzzling and smooching. We hope it's nothing serious!

Dear Diary,

DAY 363

Simba bailed on us to reclaim his kingdom. Maybe it's a good thing, but he's going to need our help.

Dear Diary,

DAY 368

You'll never guess who we ran into when we were on our way to help Simba. MA and UNCLE MAX! That's the good part. The not so good part is STARVING HYENAS chased us! But we set a trap, distracted them with one heck of a hula dance, while Ma and Uncle Max dug a tunnel underneath them. KABOOM! No more hyenas! Simba took his place as king on Pride Rock – and the circle of life continues.

So if you think this sounds like a laugh a minute, you're right! Catch the whole hilarious story only on DVD and Video February 10.
